Here's an incident that happened one summer before I went off to college. I've told it to several people on-line but I don't think you've heard it. Telling it this way is nice because I can go into detail. On-line I had to abbreviate it.

My parents live in a pretty upscale neighborhood here in Ponte Vedra Beach. We have a tall fence around our backyard but the house behind us is 2 stories high and has a good view of our backyard. While sunbathing one weekend, I glanced up and saw our neighbor staring out the window at me.

I was a little shocked but pretended I didn't notice. It felt weird knowing someone was watching me but after laying there for a while, the situation started to turn me on. I had seen the man many times working his lawn while growing up.

He was in his early forties and handsome. He had a very beautiful wife too so I couldn't understand why he was looking at me. Nothing happened that weekend, but during the week I kept thinking about him looking at me. So I decided if my parents weren't around this weekend I would give him a little more to view. On Saturday they left to spend some time on the golf course, so I made my move. Before I walked out I spent sometime making myself look/smell good and feel good by rubbing myself a little (but I didn't let myself come). That really got me ready. I walked out in my bikini and made sure I closed the sliding glass door a little hard so that he knew someone was coming out.

I put my towel down and sat on it while putting on lotion. I looked for him at his window and he wasn't there so I laid down for a while. After about 15 minutes I glanced up and there he was. That got my heart beating really hard. After about 5 minutes I sat up and reapplied lotion making sure I did it with slow strokes all over my body. This made me feel really good and helped me get up the nerve to do it. I then removed my top and exposed my breasts to him. I applied lotion on them nice and slow and played with my nipples a little. Knowing that he could see them was getting me hot. I laid back down on my back.

After about 10 minutes I glanced up again and he was still there (during those 10 minutes my heart was racing the whole time). I wanted to go further but I decided he would have to work to see it. I moved myself closer to his fence where he couldn't see from his 2nd floor, but he could see me if he came out and got close to the fence (it was weathered and there were gaps between the wood).

I also moved the hose out and turned it on a little so I could cool myself. After a few minutes he comes out pretending to do yard work. When I stopped hearing him work and new he was at the fence looking, I sat up and rolled my bikini bottom off. This got my heart going again because I new he was only about 10 feet from me. I almost came right there. But I decide to wait and stood up and drenched myself with the hose to cool myself giving him a good view of my body.

I dried myself and sat back down and started applying lotion all over my body. After doing this for a while I couldn't take it anymore. I could hardly breath. So when I stroked my stomach and legs with lotion, I had to sneak my fingers between my legs a little. This felt really good and I found myself concentrating more and more there.

I couldn't help but moan while doing it. After a while I didn't care that he was so close and watching me. I arched my back and rubbed myself slowly. This lasted for a couple of minutes (I tried making it last as long as I could) then my body shook and I had an incredible orgasm.

After laying there for a while I glanced over at the fence and he was still there. I think he wanted to see more but I was feeling a little embarrassed. I gave him another view of my body when I drenched it again with the hose. I dried myself and went inside.

I couldn't get over what I did for a week. I had never done anything like that in front of man. But it was one of my best orgasms ever. Luckily, I went off to college a month later.

I haven't been in my parents backyard since.
